

St John's College
Oxford

STATEMENT

St John's College is fully aware of an incident and a video subsequently posted on Facebook relating to Ebenezer Azamati while attending an Oxford Union event.

Mr Azamati is a postgraduate student at St John's studying for an MPhil in International Relations and an Oxford Union member.

The College is providing full pastoral support as required to Mr Azamati during this time.

15th November 2019

Notes to Editors

For further information, please contact Ms Iris Burke, Bursary Manager

(bursary.manager@sjc.ox.ac.uk; (01865) 277321

St John's College

Established in 1555 as a constituent college of the University of Oxford, St John's College fosters excellence in education and research and is committed to equality and diversity. It is one of the largest among Oxford Colleges and offers tuition in nearly every subject studied at the University. Today, St John's is home to approximately 390 undergraduates, 250 graduate students, 100 fellows and 25 College lecturers. A vibrant international community, it fosters intellectual rigour, creativity, and independence in its students, teachers, and researchers. The College supports a range of research activities including discussions, seminars, workshops, public lectures and visiting scholar schemes. While scholarly publication is naturally at the heart of the College's research endeavours, the Fellowship is also committed to informing policy and public debate, and to teaching that is informed by research findings.

Through the College's work on access to all aspects of its day-to-day activities, the College has due regard for its legal commitments under the Equality Act to promote equality, diversity and inclusion. As examples, members of Governing Body and key College committees, and all staff involved in admissions or appointments undergo appropriate equality and diversity training.